

Raven Williams is a theatre trained actor, based in Chicago. Recently performed with Pegasus Theatre. She also has previously been a supporting role in a few indie films. And various voiceover roles as "Voice of God." Raven's classical training in acting, singing, and movement brings a unique depth to each role. Raven continues to captivate audiences with a compelling presence and dedication to the craft.