

Maya TW Jones is an actor, director, writer, and teaching artist from Cleveland, Ohio. Her work focuses on healing self and community via truth and reconciliation. She has worked in many capacities on and offstage. She has appeared in notable productions across Northeast Ohio including Ensemble Theatre, Karamu House, Dobama Theatre, and Convergence Continuum. She joined her first national tour with Cleveland Public Theater in 2018. Maya is honored for Panther Women: An Army For The Liberation to be her first production since moving to Chicago.