

Lauren Littlejohn is a recent graduate from the University of Illinois at Chicago, earning a BA in Theatre and Performance. While studying, she developed her passion for the arts through acting, stage management, and directing. Lauren hopes to be a part of projects that inspire compassion by shifting away from individualism and embracing the collective need to ask for help. She is excited to help present Panther Women for its Chicago premiere and beyond.