
Jennifer D. Edwards

Jennifer D. Edwards is an artist, educator, and community arts advocate with a Bachelor of Arts in Fine Art and coursework in Theater and Fashion Design from Columbia College Chicago. Deeply rooted in Chicago's cultural communities—including her involvement with the Rizal Center, the Garfield Park Conservatory, and the Filipino theater company Circa Pintig—she brings her background in the arts to cultural and dialect consulting for this production, supporting authentic character development.

